

RAIN WATER HARVESTING:

Tripura University is blessed with a natural large water body measuring approximately 15 acres inside its premises. Naturally, this large lake serves the main purpose of rain water harvesting. During the rainy season water from the roof tops of the buildings directly fall into the lake through rain water outlets, RCC drains and recharges the ground water table throughout the year.

Rain water harvested in the Tripura University lake