The captivatingly beautiful state of Tripura is characterised by rising and falling landscape with hillocks and opaque vegetative surroundings. The average temperature of Agartala varies between 10°C-20°C in the months of January to March.

The University: The beginning of Tripura University can be traced back to the establishment of UGC recognised Post-graduate Centre of the University of Calcutta at Maharaja Bir Bikram College in the year 1976. In 1987, Tripura University formally came into its existence as a State University. In the year 2007, finally it was converted into a Central University. The University campus is located near about 18 km away from the Agartala Airport and 5 km from Agartala Railway Station towards the south.

The Department: The Department of Psychology, Tripura University has been established in 2011 and started its M. A / M.SC in Psychology in 2012 with a commitment to prepare students as future psychologists/ counsellors/ researchers for contributing significantly to the development of state and the nation at large.

The Seminar: The objective of the seminar is to highlight the current status of research, policy and discourse relating to youth in India. It aims in exploring the present status of youths in India and identifying the role of education and training in enhancing the skill development among the youths. The seminar through discussion, invited lectures and paper presentation provides an opportunity for the researchers and delegates to contribute their expertise and ideas for a cause of social welfare, as well as, to empower themselves with the latest knowledge of worthwhile handling of the youths.

The seminar also aims at addressing the different burning issues related to youth like drug addiction, suicide etc. In addition the seminar will also try to explore some new dimensions for positive development of youth and their overall quality of life and wellbeing.

Sub Themes of the Seminar:
