

Report on Placement Interaction Program

The Placement Committee of Tripura University organized a Placement Interaction Program on May 14, 2026 for the students of the Department of Pharmacy with the objective of enhancing students' awareness regarding career opportunities in the pharmaceutical industry and preparing them for future professional challenges.

The program featured eminent speakers from the pharmaceutical sector, namely Anupam Kumar Srivastava, Country Head of Santo Medi Sciences Pvt. Ltd., and Subhash Gupta, a renowned entrepreneur in pharmaceuticals. Both speakers shared their valuable industry experiences and provided insightful guidance to the students regarding career development, employability skills, industrial expectations, and entrepreneurship opportunities in the pharmaceutical sector.

The interaction session was initiated by Dr. Jagdish Kumar Sahu, Associate Professor, Department of Pharmacy, who welcomed the guests and highlighted the importance of industry-academia interaction for the holistic development of pharmacy students.

During the session, Mr. Anupam K. Srivastava delivered an informative speech on the current pharmaceutical industry scenario, recruitment procedures, industrial expectations from pharmacy graduates, and emerging opportunities in areas such as pharmaceutical marketing, regulatory affairs, production, quality assurance, pharmacovigilance, and research & development. He emphasized the importance of communication skills, technical competency, leadership qualities, and industry readiness for securing successful careers in the pharmaceutical sector.

Mr. Subhash Gupta addressed the students on entrepreneurship and self-employment opportunities in the pharmaceutical and healthcare sectors. He shared his entrepreneurial journey and highlighted the significance of innovation, perseverance, ethical business practices, and strategic planning in establishing successful pharmaceutical ventures. His motivational interaction encouraged students to think beyond conventional employment opportunities and consider entrepreneurship as a viable career pathway.

The session proved highly interactive, where students actively participated and clarified their queries related to placements, industrial training, higher studies, and career growth.

The program concluded with the expression of gratitude by Dr. Dharmendra Kumar Dubey, Placement Officer of the university, who thanked the distinguished speakers for their valuable interaction and encouragement to the students.

The formal vote of thanks was delivered by Dr. Pratap Chandra Acharya, who acknowledged the efforts of all organizers, faculty members, and participants for making the program successful.

Special appreciation was extended to Prof. Kuntal Manna, Head of the Department of Pharmacy, for ensuring proper arrangements and providing all necessary facilities for the smooth conduct of the event.

Overall, the Placement Interaction Program served as an enriching platform for the students of the Department of Pharmacy to gain practical insights into the pharmaceutical industry and career opportunities, thereby strengthening their professional preparedness and motivation.
